

Paris Metropolitan – « Research in Paris » scholarship for foreign Researchers

A programme for the reception and support of researchers of foreign nationality – both on postdoctorate and senior level – in public Parisian research laboratories for a limited period, was established several years ago.

The objective of this programme is to contribute in the establishment of new and durable collaborations, while reinforcing existing partnerships with the research centres of the major global cities.

The support of foreign researchers, along with the stimulation of international exchange programmes and international mobility of researchers, are among the main priorities of the Municipal Research Policy and is essential to the vitality and projection of Parisian research.

Researchers of foreign nationality are urged to submit their candidacies online until the 8th of March 2010, via one of the following links :
